A BOSTON CHIEF AND DIVE COM-PANIONS RURIED IN RUINS.

Chief John F. Bgan Carried Down in a Build Operations for Ris Rescue from the Reins-Re Bied Soon After Being Taken Out.

BOSTON, Feb. 5.—Six members of the Boston Fire Department, including District Chies Egan, were buried by the falling walls of a burnbuilding on Merrimac street this morning and burned to death. Five others were seriously injured. The property loss will be about $80,000. The fire was in the five-story brick milding 116 to 126 Merrimac street. The fire is supposed to have started in the rear of the fourth floor. Itiquickly spread to the floor above, the entire upper part of the building being en-enveloped in flames within fifteen minutes after it was discovered.

About 5 c'clock, for some unknown reason, the engine playing on the northern end of the ceased work temporarily, and in less than minutes the fire had regained all that it had jest. In less than ten minutes more the fourth floor, on which six members of engine company 39 and fully as many of engine 7 were working, collapsed, and the men fell to the street floor in a mass of timbers, iron, bedframes, and wool bales.

Those who lost their lives were District Chief John Francis Egan of District 3, Capt. James H. Victory of engines 38 and 39, Lieut. George J. Goftwold of engines 38 and 89, Hoseman Jo Mulhearn of engines 38 and 39, Patric k H. Diskin of engines 38 and 39, W. J. Welch of em-

The injured are Capt. James Garrity of engine 7, Hoseman Edward A. Shea of engine 7. Thomas Conroy of engine 7, Philip Doherty of engine 7, Lieut. John J. McCarthy of Protective

As late as 7:30 the voice of Egan could be heard directing the work of the rescuing party, which had to proceed very carefully, as the loose timbers and cotton bales working from their places were falling. At about 7:80 Egan stopped talking. At 10:15 Chief Egan and Capt. Victory were taken out of the ruins. Both were breathing. but were unconscious, and deid on the way to the hospital. Shortly after Mulhearn and T. H.

but were unconscious, and deid on the way to the hospital. Shortly after Mulhearn and T. H. Diskin of En, ine 7 were found dead. A few minutes later Capt. Garrity and Conroy, Shea, and Doherty were taken out alive and sent to Massachusetts General Hospital. At 11:45 the bodies of Lieut. Gottwold and Hoseman Walch were taken out. Both must have been dead for hours, and were undoubtedly smothered under the tons of debris that came down upon them. They were four or five feet below Chief Egan and his men, and had no breathing space about them, as did the first men taken out.

The injured men were taken to the hospital, where their wounds were dressed. The entire building, five stories high, was used by C. W. Hent & Co. as a mattress factory. The fourth story, where the fire started, was used for the storage of mattresses. It seemed to be under control when Chief Egan and three of his men went through a window on the fourth floor. They were working about forty feet from the front of the building when every floor, with the tons of water-soaked mattresses, went with a crash to the cellar. Capt. Garrity and four men were on the ground floor, but near the front of this building. They were taken out after about two hours work. Chief Egan and the three with blin had a little air space about them, and for more than two hours Egan's volce/could be heard calling for help and urging his men to renewed efforts. His last words at 7:30 were:

"We are all alive, and if you can only get this stuff of from us we will be all right."

his men to renewed efforts. His last words at 7:30 were:

"We are all alive, and if you can only get this stuff off from us we will be all right."

When Egan and Victory were taken out at 10:10 o'clock Egan raised his head and tried to speak, but could not. One of the men with Egan was heard to cry again and again:
"Oh, God, have mercy on my soul!"

His cries became fainter and fainte", and after 8 o'clock nothing was heard from the imprisoned men. It is believed that Gottwold and Welch were smothered almost immediately, as no cry was heard from them. They were in a mass of feathers when found and were not burned or crushed.

mass of feathers when found and were not burned or crushed.

Chief Egan had an enviable reputation for bravery in the Boston Fire Department. He was born in Boston April 27, 1849, and attended the public schools for twelve years. After leaving school he was a roofer by trade, but in 1876 joined Ladder Company 1. Six years later he was made Licutenant, and the next year he became Captain. During the last ten years Egan had been regarded as one of the most courageous and daring men in the department.

ten years Egan had been regarded as oncof the most courageous and daring men in the department.

In the Lincoln street fire in 1883 be fought his way to the roof of an adjoining building, where the flames broke through and completely enveloped him. Every one thought he could not escape, but Egan grabbed an electric wire and hung suspended by his feet in the air. The wire was cut and lowered to within thirty feet of the street, when the Captain's strength falled him and he fell into a net.

Twice he risked his life in the famous Masonic Temple fire. While walking along the coping on the roof the flames burst out and surned him severely, but the Captain climbed around the perilous edge and escaped to the roof of a building adjoining. He did not mind his burns, and, leading a company of firemen, he attempted to carry a hose back to a window on the roof. The hose slipped from his hands and Egan fell through the window to the floor thirty-five feet below. He was badly injured and lay helpless for a minute, amid the smoke and flames, until his comrades rescued him at the peril of their own lives,

BURNED TO DEATH IN A JAIL.

Three Men Lose Their Lives in a Lockup Made VICTOR, Col., Feb. 5.—Three men are dead and another man will die as the result of a fire which burned the Victor jail to the ground at 6 s'clock this morning. The dead are: Thoma Quinn, a railroad grader of Philadelphia; 'Shorty'' (real name unknown), railroad grader and James Connors. The injured man is named Dublin. The four men had been arrested early in the evening for disturbance. Connors showed a disposition to resist when taken in and was disposition to resist when taken in and was locked in a cell. The other men were placed in the "buil pen." There is no jailer at Victor. Prisoners are searched when locked up, and the officers resume their beats. It is thought that Connors in anger fired the jail, or that the bedding took fire from ashea from his pipe. How long the fire burned before it was discovered is not known, but the department was summoned and worked heroically for an hour, when they rescued Dublin. He will probably die. The others screamed for help until they became unconscious. The jail was built of pitch pine and burned as though soaked with gasoline.

BAD LUCK FOLLOWS THIS FIREMAN Ecily, Who Was in the Fifth Avenue Ditch, Falls on Miner's Stage.

Thomas Kelly of 311 West Twenty-first stree was the driver on the fire engine that tumbled into an open trunch on Fifth avenue last sun mer on the way to a fire. Kelly's leg was broken and he was otherwise injured. When he re covered sufficiently to do duty again he was covered sufficiently to do duty again he was assigned to Miner's Eighth Avenue Thestre to look out for violations of the fire law. Yesterday afternoon Kelly ascended to the files to make an investigation in the line of his regular duty. Running across the stage there is a frail bridge, eighteen feet from the floor, with a light single guard rail. Kelly crossed this and he was about to go down the narrow stairs when his injured leg gave out and he fell to the stage. He struck on the back of his head, and when he was taken to the New York Hospitul the physician who examined him said that his skull was probably fractured. Kelly is now suing the city for $50,000 damages for the injuries he received when the engine he was driving fell into the Fifth avenue trench.

children went to school when there were cases of fever in their homes. The fever kept growing and some of the bouses were quarantined. The disease spread so rapidly that yesterday Health Officer Moth informed the Board of Health that the school must be closed. They held a session, and last night it was published in the local paper that such would be the case. When the Board of Education heard of this they were very intignant. The President of the board, Benjamin Hamman, who is prominent in all the village affairs, interviewed Dra. Strong, Williams, O'Reilly, and Atwood, and they informed him that the action of the Health Board miss a summary one and entirely unwarranted. The Health Board insist that the school will not open on Monday, and the Board of Education are equally as positive that it will.
